Creating LACE products

Dan Dubin, Allyson Mackay, Ray Hearrell
October 2019
Here with you today

Dan Dubin
Technology Consultant,
Application and Emerging Technology,
SPC

Allyson Mackay
Manager,
Application and Emerging Technology,
SPC
“Products survive, thrive, and ultimately die based on their ability to effectively deliver value to their users.”
The shift to product caters to the customers, both internal and external, evaluating at their needs to deliver the right value and solutions

There is a shift in the market...

Enterprise

Project

Project

Project

Enterprise

Products

Siloed understanding of customer needs

Full understanding and attention to customer
A Lean Agile Center of Excellence, LACE, shepherds enterprise products and services to ensure a common and consistent way of working for the entire organization.

The LACE is committed to driving a change of culture, mindset, and behavior. To do this, they provide various products to the organization to create a unified way of working across the Business and Technology and achieve Enterprise Agility.

Products

People
- Agile Health Assessments
- Community of Practices
- Training Program

Process
- Standards, Practices & Templates
- Agile SDLC
- SAFe Framework Updates

Technology
- Scaled Agile Tooling
A LACE looks holistically at the organizational needs to uncover the ultimate vision and strategy for its products, ensuring that the products will ultimately provide value.
By focusing on the product mindset and strategy, the LACE not only practices what it preaches, but enables a motivated workforce and transformative way of thinking.

- Sets teams up to deliver on Corporate Strategy
- Aligns team around one target at a time
- Enables evangelizing and synching with internal stakeholders
- Focuses teams on delivering value to customers

Product mindset & strategy
Thank you!

Dan Dubin
Technology Consultant, Application and Emerging Technology
daniel.dubin@pwc.com
LinkedIn

Allyson Mackay
Manager, Application and Emerging Technology
allyson.mackay@pwc.com
LinkedIn

Ray Hearrell
Principal, Application and Emerging Technology
raymond.hearrell@pwc.com
LinkedIn